

CRSI WAS "1" OF "9" RECLAIM COMPANIES FEATURED IN THE APRIL 2ND ISSUE OF THE ACHR NEWS — FOR HAVING "SERVICES THAT ARE CONSIDERED ESPECIALLY RESPECTED, REPUTABLE SOURCES."

Resource Guide to Reclaim Services

April 02, 2012

If and when contractors step up their commitment to reclamation, they will find plenty of places ready to perform the process that brings questionable refrigerant back to ARI-700 purity standards. And contractors will also find plenty of incentives to do so.

The latest list of U.S. Environmental Protection Agency-certified refrigerant reclaimers published in October 2011 named 55 companies — and those companies offer a range of incentives. While this resource guide is not all encompassing, it is intended to provide an overview of what's happening in the reclaim sector.

Consolidated Refrigerant Solutions

www.consolidatedrefrigerantsolutions.com

Services offered through: Consolidated Refrigerant Solutions delivers its services on a regional basis (Northeastern United States) directly to HVACR contractors ***UPDATE -- CRSI NOW OFFERS ITS SERVICES BEYOND THE NORTHEASTERN REGION OF THE U.S.*****

Refrigerants: All refrigerants for reclaim.

Procedures: The truck goes to contractors' shops and picks up and exchanges their 50-pound cylinders. There is no need for in-house consolidation or emptying cylinders. The truck is in one region one day per week. Cylinders are processed at the Consolidated Refrigerant Solutions facility, and within 48 hours their data and payout credit is available to view online.

Costs: There are zero costs for the service, no evac fees, and cylinder fees; Consolidated buys back their refrigerant. There are no billed transactions unless the client purchases refrigerant.

Incentives: Availability of R22, buyback of used refrigerant, refrigerant banking, recover/reclaim/return, "contractor client based" centralized EPA recordkeeping, and free cylinder maintenance/recertification.